TYPES OF COMMERCIAL AIRLINES

Full-service schedule carriers are those airlines that offer three (3) classes of service. The ticket prices include baggage, food service, blanket etc. (Afsar Malik, 2015). You can travel long, short, medium or domestic routes

The Low-cost carriers are those airlines that offer cheap flight tickets but does not offer/provide meals etc. (Yourdictionary.com, 2016). However, additional prices are attached and they have short haul routes.

Charter aircraft let you travel in style. This is the type of aircraft you charter to take you anywhere, anytime, as you wish. They operate flights out of normal schedules and you get whatever you need during the duration of your flight with no additional charges attached.

Cargos are designed to take luggage and not passengers. They carry all kind of luggage, examples; televisions, bags, barrels, etc.
